

Embodying Hospitality: Thoughts & Practices to Nurture A Generous Welcome

Tuesday, March 19, 2024 | 1:30pm - 3:00pm

Co-creating comfortable gathering spaces & bringing our full selves back into the world together.

The world has changed drastically over the past few years, including the ways in which we gather together, share spaces, and show up in conversations. As we return to some social routines, while continuing some newer practices of staying connected virtually, many questions emerge about how best to co-create hospitable and inclusive spaces in a post-pandemic world. Join us as we reflect on what it takes to attend to one another in tangible and unseen ways, meet people in their vulnerabilities, reach out with compassion, and exercise kindness and thoughtfulness in our interactions, connections, and relationships.

An OIFN Reflective Practice Conversation

Join the OIFN Community of Practice on Zoom Video Conferencing to:

- Come together with other self-advocates, people who receive some support, family members, loved ones, independent facilitators, and supportive allies who feel called to social justice and social action.
- Share experiences, ideas, and stories about building meaningful relationships, staying connected, and cultivating spaces for rich dialogue.
- Learn together about belonging and inclusion, Independent Facilitation, and how we can bravely move forward together in a movement for change.

There is NO COST to participate.
Contributions in support of OIFN are greatly appreciated.
